Celebrate Student Life Good Times

SENIORITIS Getting together for pictures is fun when you are with friends. Voula, Saren, Tia, Ratha, Sida, and Navy start the year with a smile!

Throughout our four years at Lowell High, we have experienced many events. Our high school career began as we got to know the school. In our sophomore year, we celebrated our first semi-formal dance, the Sophomore Social. The Harvest, our junior formal, led us into the world of upperclassmen. Now reality strikes, this is our final year! Time for college applications and getting work done. Lunch was a time for fun conversations and some needed relaxation. The Senior Snowball forced us to recognize that Graduation was just around the corner.

From 1996 to 2000, times were fun & memories were unforgettable.

"I can't wait to see my friends!"

"Help, I can't find my class!"

"Smile, everyone is watching!"

First Days as Freshman

Having the school to ourself that first day would be the only time we were not confused. We started the day at 8:30 and were dismissed at 2:30. A few of us had classes in the Mogan Center while many of us dealt with the noise of construction in the old building.

Intimidating seniors, identical hallways, new faces and a crowded tunnel were some of the many obstacles we freshman faced on our way to becoming sophomores. This was a great time for the majority and for the minority a disaster. Some were stuck in clusters and lunches with no friends.

Others could not understand the layout of the school and got lost repeatedly. For most of us, however, freshman year was a time to get to know new people and ourselves. The work was not hard and the teachers understanding.

One problem that everyone agreed on was the annoyance presented by the construction in the Old Building. The drilling was constant and periodically set off the fire alarm, once during quarterly exams. All in all it was an interesting and exciting year.

GOT THE JITTERS
Anxious for her first day, Michelle Vieira tries to excite Courtney Preston about the opportunities that await them.

GLAMOUR GIRLS
Hanging out with friends are Savoeun Youk, Boryrath Lom, Sokha Meas, Bophary Lach, Pheap Chhoeun, Chanthavy Klok, Sothea Sok, Vansak, Nin Preap, and Lay Tim.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS
Patty Aguilar assists Chad Williams, Nelfi Geraldo, and Raunny Rosario with their lunch choice.

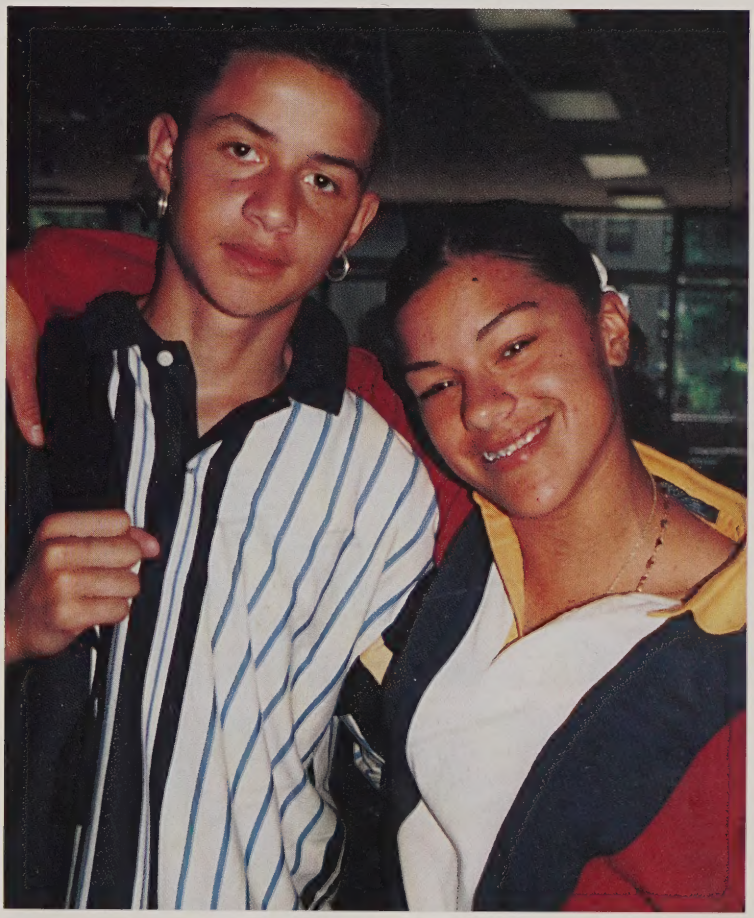
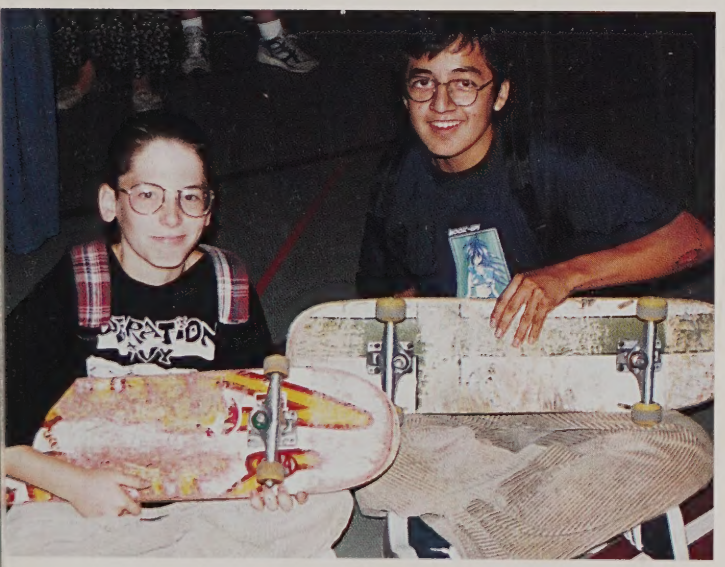
CAFETERIA TALK
Meeting friends during lunch was the highlight of the day, especially when you saw the same people all the time.

ALL SMILES!
Melinda Edwards, Tarshia Artis, and Samantha Morris take time to see how their day is progressing.

FRIENDS FOREVER
Jill Ryan and Therese Ray get caught up on what they did this summer.





NO SKATEBOARDING ALLOWED
Thrashers Dave Baton and Willie Lopez show off their boards. They did not take the city bus to school.

HOW YOU DOIN'
Getting reacquainted after the summer, Luis Hernandes and Tanisha Cruz talk about the school year.

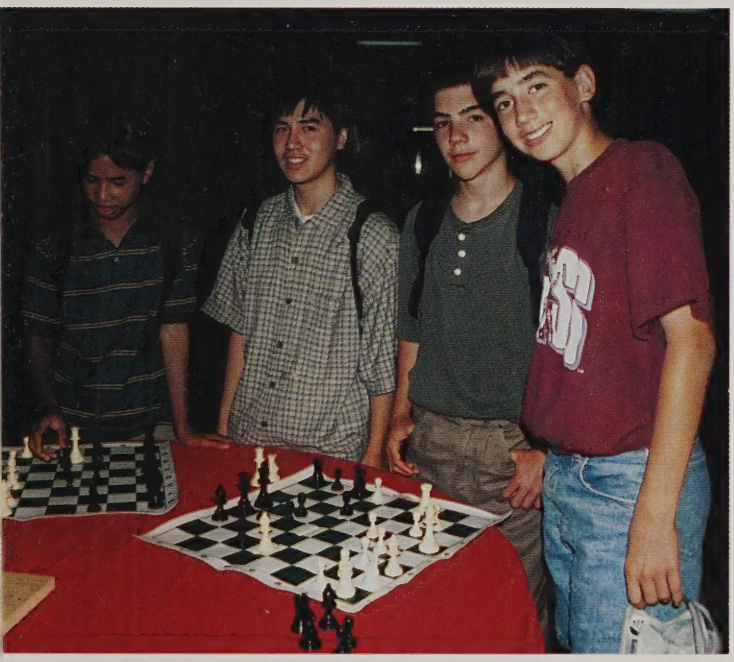
HAPPY FACES
All smiles, Katie Parent, Jen Melnicki, and Michelle Rivera look forward to a new school year and four fun years at LHS.

What We Remember Most
About Being Freshman

1. Crowded Tunnels
2. Cluster Complication
3. Intimidating Upperclassmen
4. Confusing Corridors
5. Mogan Center Seclusion



WHAT STUDS!
Reflecting on the next four years, Socheath Eath and Rathana Yok take a minute to get their books together.

BABY FACED
Ready for nap time, Kyle Nicodemus and Jimmy McGrail look too young for high school. It is amazing to see how much we have grown in just four years.

CLUSTERING

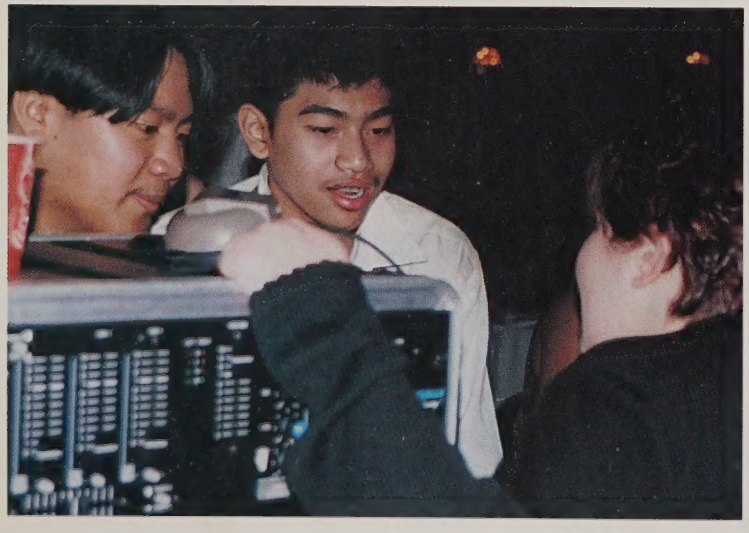
DANCING AWAY

Finding room to dance wasn't a problem for this guy as he finds room between the tables.

HANGING OUT

Getting a good look from the balcony, Dave Brown and Ryan Hogan check out the action.



MAKING A REQUEST

Being able to dance was the best part of the night as the DJ listened to the party goers. Manny and Chuck Khirv put in their request.

LUCKY, LUCKY

Being choosy wasn't a problem for Bret Calverly as he hugs his two dates, Tiffany Boutlier and Jen Lewis.

PRESS & STARCHED

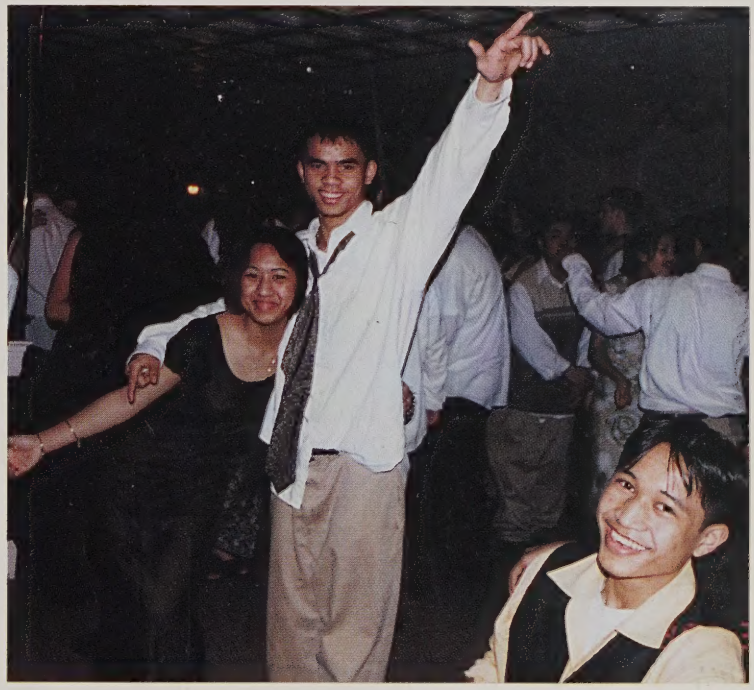
Wary and resting, these boys look classic in their white shirts. No longer wearing ties, they were able to be themselves.

SMILES GALORE

Taking a break from the action, Bridgette McDermott and Jill McPhillips catch their breath with a view from the balcony.

MAKING A STATEMENT

Standing in line to enter Germano's was not a highlight of the night, finally out on the dance floor, you could make your mark!



HOW Y'ALL DOIN'?

Getting a grove on, Sophin Phon waves tohis friends while dancing away.

POSE AND SMILE

Group shots are one of the treasures of the night's activities.

BUFFET LINE
Enjoying the buffet, Katie Parent, Jason Berard, Erica Vitorino and Jen Vitorino help themselves to finger sandwiches, chicken fingers, and desserts.

GROUP SHOT
Going with friends Kim McDonald, Katie Giblin, Rebecca Marr, Katie Chateneauf, Jill McPhillips, Nicole Rocheleau, and Danielle Bourassa gather for picture time.

Having a Blast—Dancing Away Germano's Serves It's Purpose

Everyone wanted to look great! They prepared everything before the dance; the perfect dress, the up-do's, nails freshly painted, WOW! Although it wasn't the prom, it sure looked like it. The party was just the beginning.

Dates for the evening were no BIG deal. Some people didn't even think about bringing dates. They just wanted to have fun with friends. Many succeeded in having a blast and yet many were stuck with someone they didn't even want to dance with. Hopefully you were happy with your choice.

A crowded dance floor, and a lot of sweat; so many students, so little room. The food was a bit less than to be desired. A small buffet and no where to sit and eat. A small room and even less chairs. Tables were used only to leave your camera, jacket, and flowers.

In the end, we all fit; all 400 of us. We squeezed, sweat, danced and sparkled as we celebrated the Sophomore Social at Germano's Banquet Hall in Tewksbury.

Next stop, the Harvest!

CHECKING IN FOR THE NIGHT
Handing in their tickets, Jessica Jusczak, Allison Carroll, and Danielle Sullivan report to the check in table.

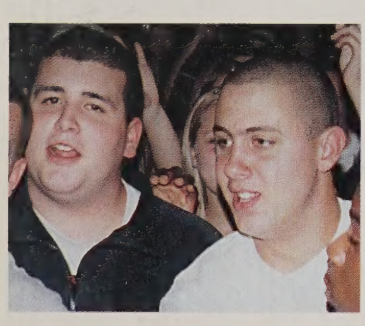
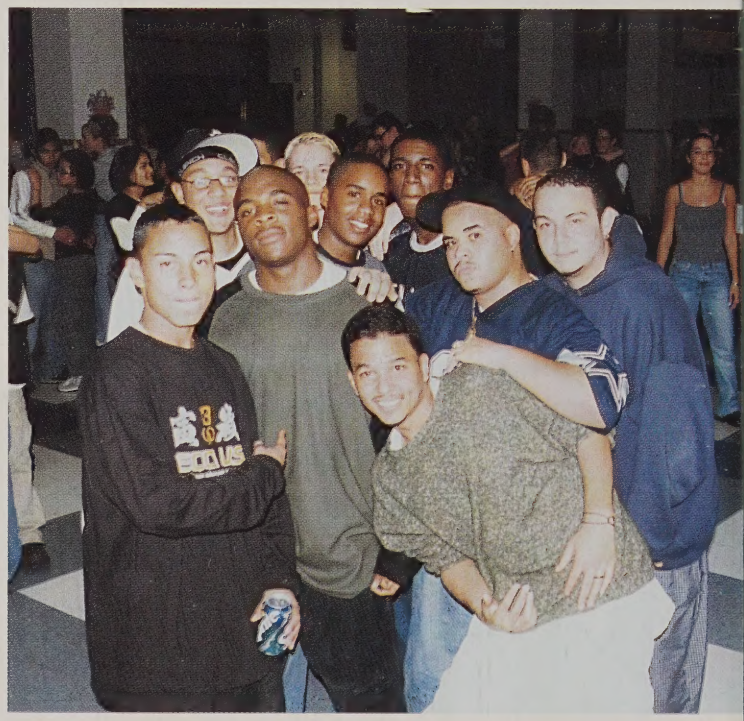
THE HOMECOMING COURT
Receiving the most votes from their school mates, Nicole Rocheleau, Tanya Hughes, Queen Stephanie Zgonis, Adella Freeman, and Laysim Houth take centerstage.

DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY
Moving to the music, Chris Bowen and Josh Woods party at the Homecoming Dance held on Wednesday, October 6.



GOTTA LOVE PEPSI
Sweating it out on the dance floor, Samantha Morris, Jodi Labednick, Ana Kincaid and Melinda Edwards get a grip on Jen Vitorino. Boy was it hot after dancing all night!



HANGING WITH FRIENDS
Crowding the dance floor, Victor, Isom, Kal, Jackie, Nelfi, Josu Antoine, Wilson and Roberto get together. High school dances are always fun when you go with people you like.

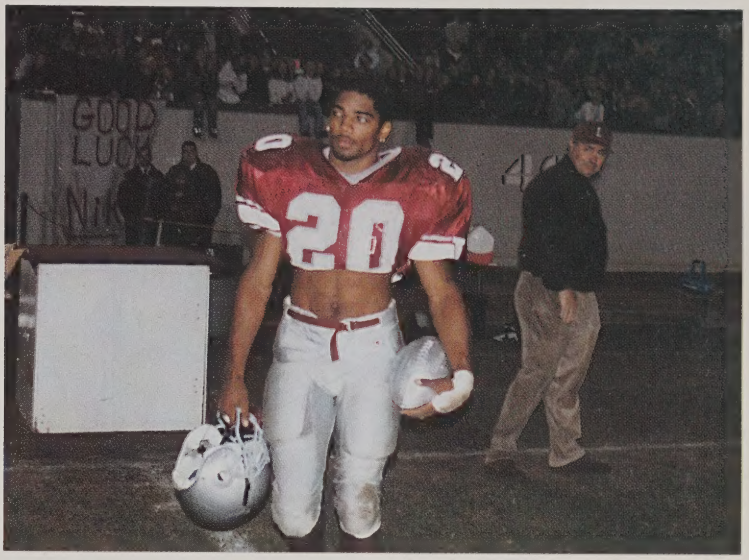
VOTING PROCEDURES
A three-day session gave students the opportunity to vote for their favorite senior. Katie Shaughnessy and Nicole Rodger keep Lilly Silva in line.

THERE HE IS
After receiving the Silver Football from Athletic Director Walter Nelson, Senior Captain Raunny Rosario makes his way to center field as Mr Football.



WO THUMBS UP
pproving of the court, Amanda Potter, Melinda Edwards, amantha Morris, and Matthew McGuire attempt to keep warm the cool October night.

AND THE CROWD GOES WILD!

It's Not the Score that Counts!

Homecoming Activities were kicked off Monday, October 4, with voting in the cafeteria. After two days, all ballots had to be thrown out because someone stuffed the ballot box. Ms G coordinated the voting efforts and was not pleased with the negative activities that surrounded the voting.

A dance was held Wednesday night, sponsored by the Cheerleaders, as over 300 students crowded the cafeteria dance floor. After the dance, the traditional toilet paper festivities of the senior football players' houses commenced. However, things got a bit out of hand when people began getting egged. What a messy sight.

The presentation of Mr Football at half-time featured star Running Back Raunny Rosario, who led the votes among his teammates. Only football players vote for one senior on the team to be named Mr Football.

The crowning moment, the 1999 Queen, Stephanie Zgonis was presented with the crown, flowers and sash!

Lowell lost the game to Chelmsford, 35-6.

Smile! It's time for LUNCH

Lunch was a very big part of a student's daily activities. Lunch gave us time away from the everyday hardships that plagued us during our high school career. Most of us used the 25 minutes to relax, hang out with friends and catch up on the latest gossip. Others used it to do some last minute homework or to cram for an upcoming test. Even though lunch always seemed way too short, it gave us an important pause during an otherwise hectic day.

There are many daring individuals who decide to take a risk and try the "Special of the Day." Most students who tried the school lunch were genuinely surprised when it turned out to be halfway decent. The condiment stand was a circus in itself. Set up with squirting ketchup, self-serve onions, and the pasty mayonnaise bowls, it was enough to scare away even the hungriest teenager. But the food and the condiments were key, because no matter what period you had lunch you would always find yourself hungry.

So if you find yourself, years from now, hungry at 10:20 a.m. or starving by 12:48 p.m., try and remember that if you were still in high school you would no longer be hungry. The memories are sure to come oozing back!

No Snow for the Snowball

Over three hundred and fifty seniors crowded the Doubletree Inn Lowell for fun, fancy dress, memories & more…

As seniors began to arrive, Student Activities Director Sue Fineman waited anxiously for a Seismic Sound DJ to arrive. At 6:30 in walked our hero, International DJ Roberto, to save the night. Ready to go with his equipment, Roberto got the go ahead from Ms. Fineman to set up. Over 50 partiers were already waiting to boogy on the small but suitable dance floor. Pendleton Photography provided the opportunity for memories to be captured on film. At midnight, weary dancers said goodbye as their night came to a close and another successful event was complete.

Crowding the dance floor Allison Carroll, Jessica Jusczak, Kelly Dolan, Beth MacLaughlin, Kara Pigeon, Julie Milanazzo, Katie Draper and Cristin Casey and Meghan Rourke take up too much room.

Taking time away from the dance floor Rathana Yok and Sarim Deap work their way toward the picture line.

With their ties off and taking a break from dancing, Luis Wales, Roberto Rivera and Oscar Lazu show off their studly style.

All decked out Sarina Hay, Vicky Sin, Pesey Peov, and Sarey Som are ready to hit the dance floor.

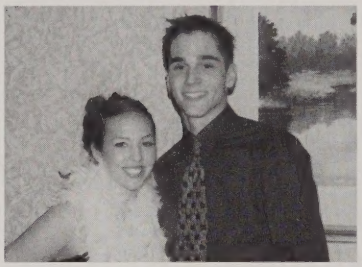
Arriving in style Matt Murphy, Christina Colameta, Katie Giblin and Bernie DiGiorgio make a grand entrance.

Spending time with dates and friends, Frank Morris, Laura Fombait, Delores Tucker, Teizue Gayflor and Roberto take time from the dance floor for a group photo.



Using background ambiance, Page Sadlier and Ben Faust make the most of the Doubletree Inn for pictures for the special evening. Too bad Ben didn't take any pictures with his date.

Due to the small dance floor Rebecca Marr, Melissa Dion and Erin Delaney were forced off the dance floor. The dance floor was smaller than the stage in the school auditorium, not much room for over 300 revelers.

Getting taller by the minute, Suhail Pantojas stands high above the crowd to get a look at friends on the dance floor.

Looking suave Nury, Lucia Gwilly, Kema Jaina, Diana and Elizabeth Duah take a minute to wet their whistle.

Kelly Garvey and Chris get romantic after a slow song on the dance floor. Heat consumed most dancers, requiring them to seek refuge at their table for water and fruit punch.

Delivering gifts of coal, Santa (aka Mr DeProfio) stopped by to see Sam Sok, Koy Chang.

Returning to their table, Jen Garland, & Jen Doyle get ready to hit the dance floor.

On their way out, Buntha Kouy, Melinda Bellegarde, Mary Desharnais, Melinda Boisvert, Steve Murphy, Ray Daigneault, Courtney Preston, Sam Descoteaux, Joanna Kolojiez, Suzie Woodward, Kerri Jalbert and Adam Deangelis get ready for home.

Not the Clubs Only Reason

A LOT OF HOT AIR Playing in the band, senior Ariel Gabriel performs at one of many football games.

Clubs keep students involved in after school activities. They give you a chance to learn new things, make new friends, and work for a common goal. Field trips, parties, meetings, and dances are just some of the things students do when they are involved in different clubs. DECA participants traveled to Maryland where they met other students from the North Atlantic states. Clubs like Student Government & Peer Leadership, spread good feeling throughout the community. Students make a positivie impact that all of Lowell sees and appreciates.

Whatever your interests may be, there is a club that fits your lifestyle and your interests.

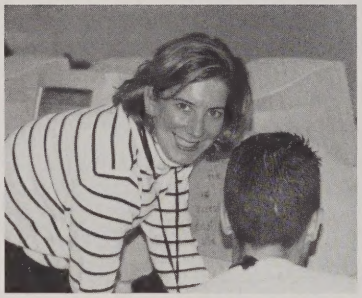
The Spindle

2000 Reasons to Celebrate

The Yearbook Staff find that picture selection and caption writing isn't so easy, but quickly realize what fun it can be!

YEARBOOK STRESS
Ms. Sullivan has all the reason to smile as she helps Willie Colon with his two page spread; students worked hard to meet every deadline on time.



Yearbook--A book that contains pictures and memories of high school from the past four years so that students can look back and smile upon what had happened during that time of their lives. That is the hope the yearbook staff had in mind when they put the book together. The staff worked diligently through the Mods 12/13 & 14/15 Yearbook Journalism classes and tried to make the best book possible. With Ms. LaBranche-Sullivan at the helm, the students in class quickly learned the meaning of work. Between brainstorming, writing captions, creating headlines, writing stories, and selecting pictures, the staff found some time to laugh during all the confusion. They had to learn PageMaker & Yeartech as well as the writing skills necessary to complete all facets of production. With an interesting balance of deadline duties and computer confusion the talented staff completed the book; hopefully to your satisfaction! Enjoy!

ALL THE LITTLE THINGS
Preparing for class Savoeun Yok, Sokharn Ran, and Heng Seth work together on writing captions.

CONCENTRATION COUNTS!
Working hard at the computer, Lay Tim types quickly at her station. She was responsible for producing over 10 faculty pages.

THAT'S A GOOD ONE!
Looking through pictures from freshman year Raunny Rosario and Rathana Yok find humor in how tiny we really were as freshman.

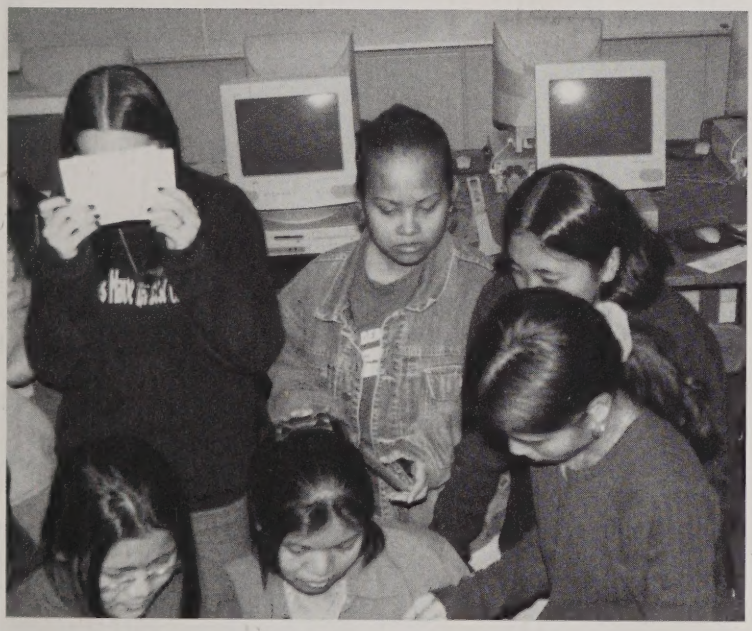
STAFFERS OF THE 2000 SPINDLE (Front L-R) Sabrina Aguiar, Olga Alvarez, Willie Colon, Mala Pong, Sok Sem (Middle L-R) Chantra So, Phalla Sok, Danica Colby, Taryn Sweeney, Melinda Edwards, Lay Tim, Shaunee DeAngelis, Savoeun Youk, Page Sadlier, Raunny Rosario (Back L-R) Mandee Genereux, Kim Gettings, Rathana Yok, Mom Oun, Nancy Mok, Heng Sath, and Sokharn Ran. (Missing from photo Ben Faust)

RELAX WE MADE IT Working on the computer can't be taken too seriously as Taryn Sweeney and Mandee Genereux work to finish their pages.



LOVE TO LOOK AT PICTURES Getting a close-up look, Kim Gettings will look but doesn't want to be seen. While Heng Sath, Sokharn Ran, Phalla Sok, Chantra So and Savoeun Youk make a decision on sport photos to be included on a layout.

BUSY! BUSY! BUSY! Supervising the making of a page is just as important as working on the page itself as Mom Oun watches over Sokharn Ran, Nancy Mok, Lay Tim, and Savoeun Youk.

From deep within the minds of the 2000 Staff came the ideas that would make the 2000 Spindle different from previous years. With a new 16 page color section, students were elated to see the book come to life. The staff worked hard to create the pages that would carry a sense of magic into the 21st century and give the book a life all its own. Through laughter, stress, good times, aggravating times, and even a couple of moody days, the book grew into its own, coming to you... 2000 Reasons to Celebrate has arrived!

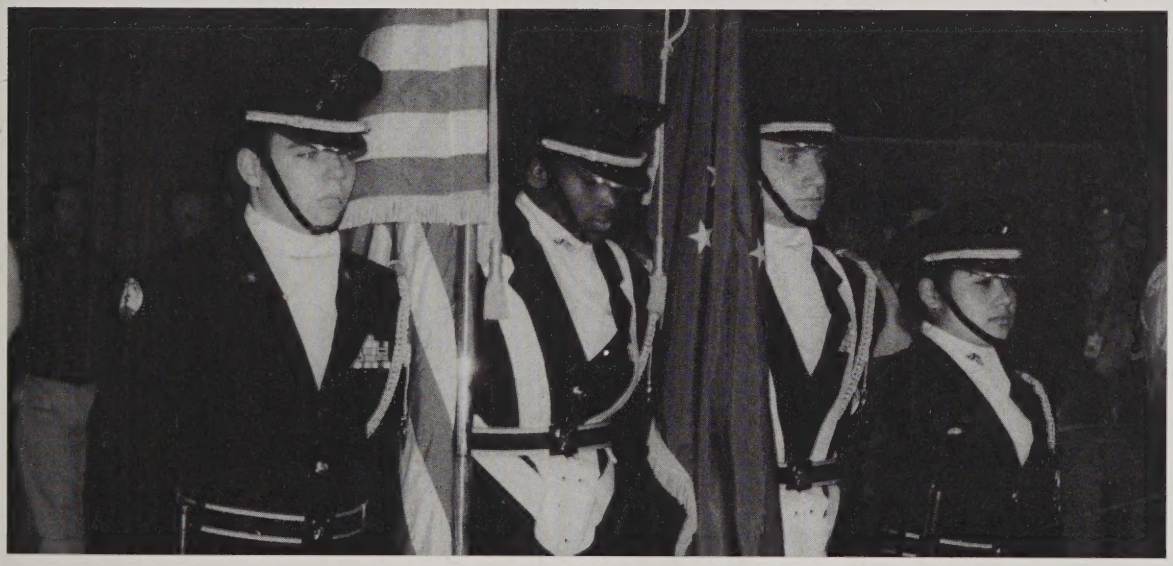
Meeting the Challenge
Aerospace Science Aim High for the Future



With the addition of Chief Bobby Jacques in the spring of 1997, the ROTC Program went under a major renovation. With his assistance, students were given different opportunities; including serving at Fenway Park as the Honor Guard for the presentation of colors at Opening Day. Also the program gained materials and miscellaneous items from Hanscom Air Force Base; items included desks, chairs, and different office equipment that are now being utilized throughout the school building. Members also began Drill Team skills under a more supervised atmosphere. They competed at various events and even served as host school for the 1998 Drill Team Competition. Our thanks to all of the ROTC Instructors for their dedication to the Jr ROTC Program. Teamwork pays off, as members learned valuable skills.

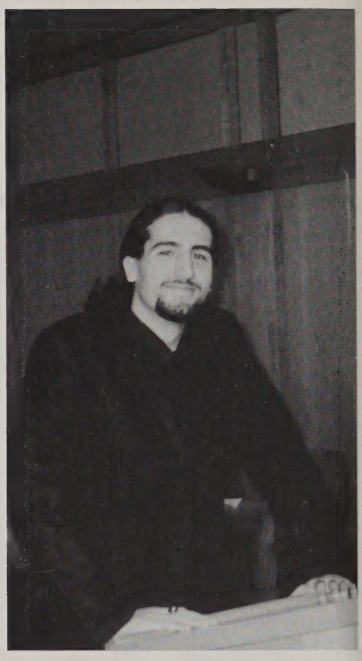
PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE
Sifting through the case materials, the Mock Trial team practices for an upcoming competition. The team met every Thursday to prepare for each of the three trials.

OBJECTION YOUR HONOR
Senior Rob Pitkin approaches the stand to question the witness in the trial. Held on March 3, students got their first taste of the Lawrence District Court, beating Lowell Middlesex Charter School with an impressive victory.



Mock Trial 2000

Order in the Court

What exactly is Mock Trial, you ask? You are not alone. It is probably one of the most frequently asked questions about the club. Mock Trial is a growing activity in which students of all grades take on the roles of lawyers & witnesses to act out a court case. Advised by teacher Roxane Howe and Attorney's Frank & Patty Talty, students prepare for their day in court. Not only does Mock Trial teach students the basics of law, it also teaches the values of teamwork, communication, public speaking, and essential problem solving skills. A case is distributed yearly by the Massachusetts Bar Institute to schools throughout Massachusetts. Each team competes against three different schools in their area. Each trial varies on the side that presents the case, either the defense or the plaintiff side must perform at the trial. A total of three trials are held and judged by judges or lawyers. The LHS team competed against the Middlesex Academy Charter School & Central Catholic at Lawrence District Court; and Andover High School at Essex County Superior Court. They won 1 of the 3 trials, but all three trial were scored close, and the members performed their roles to perfection.

Playing on a sport team is a very important part of many students' lives. All those who participated in a sport were winners, even if their teams record didn't show it. Every person playing on a team learned how to juggle their time, make a commitment, and be responsible. Because of this some became better people. By playing a sport, you meet new people, learn lifelong lessons and share great memories with others. Sports give students a chance to express their talents in different ways besides academics. Thanks to all of the coaches who made a difference day after day.

Working through practices prepared the team to face tough opponents in real game situations.

Piled up in mid-field the football team gets stopped by Chelmsford during the Homecoming Game. The team had high hopes of making some noise in the MVC, but tough early losses to Nashua & North Middlesex proved too much for the Red Raiders to come back from. Keeping an eye her opponent, senior Bethany Sykes worked hard to improve the Field Hockey team's record for their second complete season at the varsity level. Leading the soccer team to the state tournament for the second straight year, captain Craig Lamy beats the Billerica defender to the ball.

Running Strong

New Additions Prove Helpful

1999 was yet another successful season for the boys cross country team. The year started out as a success with a big win at the Rotary International Meet at Devens. The team was also third at the Bay State Invitational and won the League Championship meet for the 4th time in five years. The highlight of the season was a ninth place finish at the All-State Meet, the best finish in several years.

The regular season ended with a 7 - 2 Record. The losses included an upset by Lawrence and a close loss to Chelmsford in the final meet of the season.

The team was led by sophomores Chris Gonsalves and Pat Morasse. Newcomers Randy Brodeur and Andrew "Shadow" Downey made a large contribution. The Ostrich--Joe Sargent, was also consistent factor to the team successes.

SHOWING HIS SKILLS
Running to the finish, Randy Brodeur completes his first season on cross country. He was named to the MVC All-Star team, a credit for his work for being a first-time runner.

Girls Soccer Manages

Completing the season with just 5 wins is not a true representation of the work and effort put in by the girls soccer team. Playing in the MVC, the team faced a tough schedule.

Team members "...improved over the course of the season..." stated Coach Tom Button. As with any athletic team, members had a clearer understanding of offensive techniques.

The team played well making 30 goals on 48 attempts. Coach Button looks to improve defense--pressure, cover, and balance next season.

Senior Gina Brunelas received the FLHS Most Improved Player award for learning a new positon.

Second Consecutive Tourney Appearance

Consistent Play

"Offense wins games, defense wins championships" stated Head Coach Manny Batista at the FLHS Fall Awards Banquet. Commenting on the season, the coach felt the team performed extremely well.

Plagued by some injuries to key people at key times, the team could have finished higher in the MVC.

Receiving awards at the banquet were FLHS Most Improved Player Frank Moscato also an MVC All Star and All Conference Player.

Most Valuable Player Kirk Buckley proved to be an asset to the team providing 7 shutouts in goal. His offensive play helped move the team to the state tournament.

Sportsmanship Awards was given to Craig Lamy and Dex Bouapha for their outstanding contribution to the team. Chris Gabriel was given the FLHS Coaches Award.

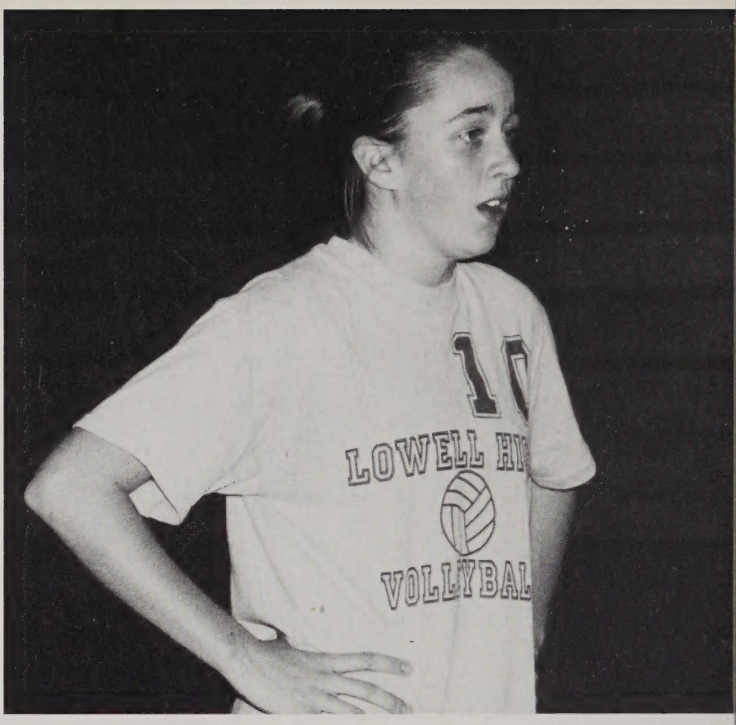
Set To Win

Young Team Builds Momentum

With such a young team, Lowell set its' sights on playing hard and playing well. Beating more experienced teams at the start of the season gave the team momentum to continue its' successes. Although they experienced tough losses, they were well fought battles versus worthy opponents.

A major highlight was beating Somerville in the First Round of the State Tournament in 5 hard fought games. Lowell's hopes turned to fear as they were matched to play Andover, a Division 1 powerhouse, in Round Two. Falling short to Andover for the third time this season, the team ended its tourney play with many exciting memories.

Leading the team with 181 assists, Meghan Keefe received the FLHS Most Improved Player Award. While Captain Ashley Cote continued her success on the floor with 88 digs earning her FLHS MVP status. Ashley also was name to the MVC All Conference team and joined her teammates Jen Vitorino and Christie Ouk as MVC All Stars.



THE FUTURE
Working to earn varsity status, the JV team worked hard under the direction of Coach Lorinda Collucci. Their overall team record was 17 - 3.

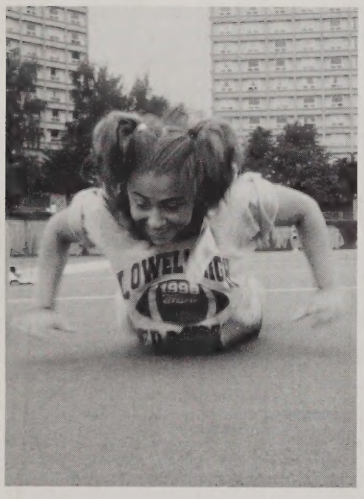
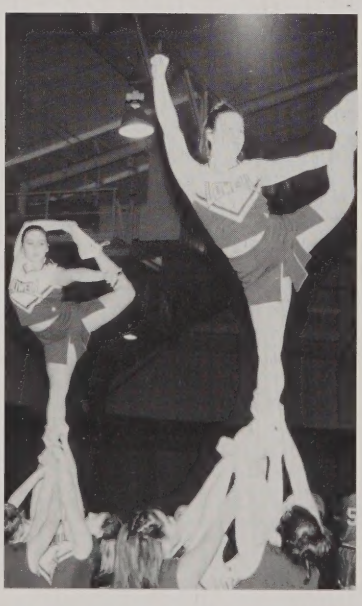
Relaxing after countless hours of practice, the team enjoys a celebration with the guest appearance of routine choreographer Lauren Gryszkiewicz.

WORMING HER WAY OUT
Moving down the field, Melissa Dion rushes to beat her teammates in the worm contest held during camp. 1998 proved to be Missy's year, beating out Kendra Hague by just inches.



FOUR YEAR MEMBERS
Surviving three coaching changes over their four years, Veronica Gendron, Rebecca Marr, Jill McPhillips, and Bridgette McDermott make the most of their final home basketball game.

HIGH IN THE AIR
With balance on their side, Melissa Dion points to the crowd during her Arabesque, while Jill McPhillips grabs a hold of her ankle completing a scale. Supporting both stunters are three strong bases working together to keep them up in the air.



SISTER SISTER
Hugs all around Candice & Veronica Gendron are just one of two sister acts working together. Bridgette & Lindsay completed the set; while cousins Becca & Missy always had fun.

Edited by Jill LaBranche

Completing parts to the 1997 Parade Float, Jill & Becca paint a sign. Doing a Side Hurdler, Bridgette McDermott has great lift off the ground. The team forms a pinball for the dance portion of their routine.

Making Changes

Completing a crazy year, the 1999 State Champions had a huge re-building year. With just 7 of 20 members returning the girls had their work cut out for them. The team participated in the NCA Camp at BU for the 5th straight year. By the end of August new coach Elena Hickey was leading practices with the help of Kim Mello. Working through vigorous practices, Lauren Gryszkiewicz returned several times to fine-tune the competition routine.

Members competed at Shephard Hill, Medford, Bartlett & the MSSAA Regional & State Tourneys. Remember the fun trips to Myrtle Beach & NYC with Jill & Lauren.

Make the Pass

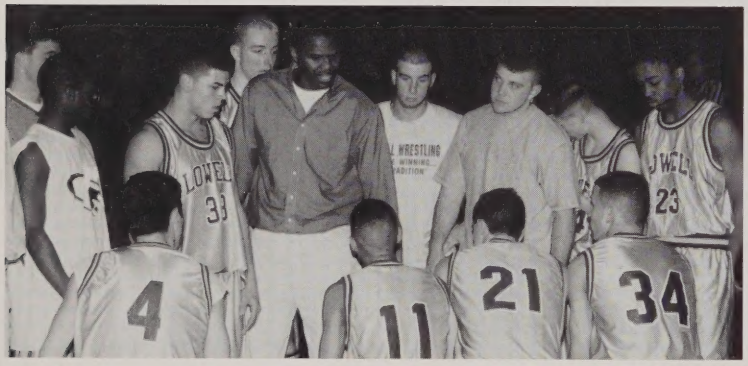
Lowell High School has been known as a competitive athletic school for many years. As the years pass and teams change many things have been tough to accomplish. Playing in the toughest league in the state, the team has showed its' weaknesses, but in more instances they have shown their strong points.

They faced difficult changes, such as finding players to fill the empty spots occupied by strong players. Finding one thing which would bring them together to win games, "teamwork," proved to be and inescapable barrier.

Making the state tournament for the second straight year was a major accomplishment, especially since 7 of the 10 MVC teams also qualified. LHS basketball always strived to put 100% into each game.

By the end of the season, teamwork at each and every game was necessary in order to pick up the "W."

Lowell beat St. John's Prep in a close game during the first round of tournament action, but was upended by Cambridge Rindge & Latin to end their season.



GETTING IT TOGETHER
Coach Scottie Stapleton gives the team some strong words to take control of the game during a time-out.

TAKING IT STRONG
Senior Bobby Michalczyk drives strong to the basket blowing by the defender. Bobby was selected as an MVC All Conference player.

GOING UP
Preparing to get above the rim forward Marcus Wilson plants his feet and goes strong to the basket.

Edited by Willie Colon

SPOTTING UP
Settling for the easy two, guard Julio Otero sets up just below the three point arc and finds his range for the three. Julio was selected as an MVC All Star.

EXCUSE ME
Moving through the tough defenders, forward Chris Chiurri clears his path to the basket for an easy two. Chris was received the FLHS Coaches Award.

PUTTING IT UP
Junior guard William Pena rises above the defenders concentrating on making the high-rising lay up.

SHOWING TRUE COLORS
Seniors Ryan Hogan, Chris Chiurri, Bobby Michalczyk, Julio Otero, Billy Couture, and Kevin Ferria take time to relax and have a little fun before game time.

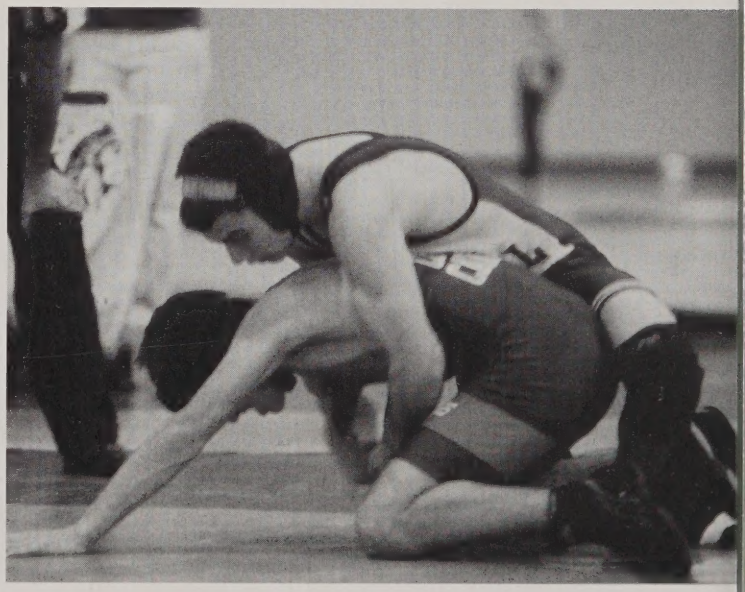
Winning is Tradition

Completing the season, Coach Bossi commented "the youngest team" he had worked with in years.

For the first time in 40 years, no Lowell High wrestler finished in First Place at the State Tournament. That's not to say that there were not competitors. The most notable finishers were senior Joe Baker, 2nd in North Sectionals, 5th in States. Mike Gudewich finished 4th at the Sectionals and 5th at states. Dave Provencher also finished 5th at the state level matching his 5th place finish at sectionals. Pat Sheehan finished 3rd at the north sectionals.

FLHS Awards given out by Coach Bossi were: Sportsmanship, Mike Cook; JV Sportsmanship, Mike Witts; Most Improved Wrestler, Mike Gudewich; and MVP Jon Dolan for completing a 30 - 5 season, first in sectionals, 5th in the state.



COMING FROM BEHIND
Captain Joe Baker wraps his Central Catholic opponent to break him down to the mat. His hard work paid off as Lowell beat Central for the first time in four year.s A highlight for Joe, "This is the first time I have seen a team at LHS beat Central...what a great feeling."

One Academics Reason

ACCOUNTING FOR HIS ERRORS
Completing a transaction, Chad Williams trusts that his calculator will give him the correct answer to a problem in Mr Weir's Accounting II Class.

What is a cluster? This question was quickly answered as freshman. Students were grouped together in English, History, Math and Science. We were only free from our binding clusters during phys ed, foreign language or other electives. Because of construction, about 100 students had classes in the Mogan Center. Sophomore year rolled around and we were the guinea pigs for the new MCAS tests--what a test it was. Junior year got us thinking of what was to come. SAT's, college applications, graduation requirements, and FASFA forms were a few of the unforgettable pressures we faced our senior year.

Academics & faculty members went a long way in teaching us our personal and social responsiblities.

Assisting in the molding of our academic and social development, English teacher Paul Georges is just one of over 300 faculty members that we may have encountered throughout our four years. "The Lunch Ladies," as we liked to call them, looked forward to seeing our smiling faces in the lunch line. A new hot spot during lunch was the 1826 School Store. It was manned by students during the day including Sophat Phok. As an Office Intern in A House, Danielle Sullivan turns to ask Ms. French a question about some paperwork. The gymnasium was just one place students worked on their social development. Katrina Freeman swats the volleyball over the net during her phys ed class. "What a long way down," Willie Colon thinks as he and Melinda Edwards take a look at the new tunnel from the third floor of the new building. With renovations complete, the building has changed it's appearance in just four short years.

With major renovations happening throughout our four years at LHS, Headmaster Samaras faced new challenges and even more changes in the population, academic requirements and a very active student body.

Running a school of this size requires assistance; Mr. Samaras works with several key people throughout the building including Dr. David Moorehouse, Master

Dear Class of 2000,

You are members of the first class of the new millennium. You have received very much, and you will be expected to give much in return. You have mastered all of the tools necessary to become successful leaders. Your motivation to take on a leadership role and further transform our society in a positive manner remains to be proven. Your family, friends, city and country need your powerful presence to ensure that tomorrow's students will have a choice to grow up in a world that recognizes and appreciates your knowledge, your integrity and your values. The very future of our country, our city and our schools will depend on your utilizing the fine education that you received at Lowell High School. Please prepare yourselves to accept the responsibility of leadership in the next decade.

Congratulations,

William Samaras, Headmaster

LUNCH LADIES Working and serving our breakfasts' and lunches for the past four year, we honor the cafe workers. (Front L-R) Paula Robinson, Denise Lavallee, June Challender, Evelyn Shadon, Joyce Chen, Yvette Eve (Back L-R) Rosa, Bunny Leclair, Gil Frechette, Mary Santaracas, Barbara Lemire, Pat Laplante, Julie Copley, C Pepin, Ann Shanahan, Alice Harrington, Jeanne Eno, Georgia, Maria Santos, and Maria Underwood.

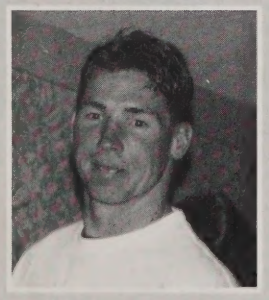
Preparing the lettuce for sandwiches, Pat Laplante gets all the fixings ready.

"A teacher touches one's life forever..."

Discussing ideas with colleagues, Bill McGowan gets startled by the flash.

Attending several out of school events, Guidance Counselor John Silva brought his wife to the Senior Snowball.

Laughing at the dancers Guidance Counselor Pasqua Leary enjoys watching the students tangle on the dance floor.

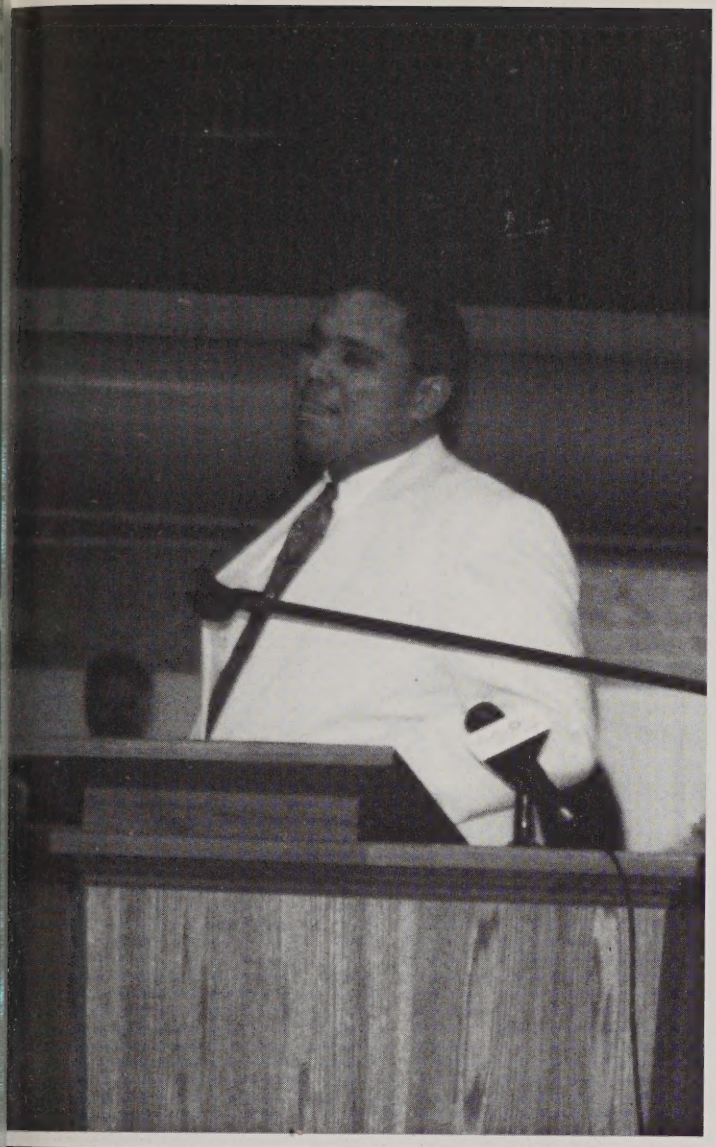


Caught off guard, Security Guard Scott Boyle smiles for a bit!

Cuddling together with a big smile Social Studies teacher Barbara Roberts brought her own date to the Harvest.

Having a meeting with Mr. Cof MaryAnn Durand listens inter with Maribeth O'Neil.

Edited by Savoeun Youk & Lay Tim



Receiving his award from the Millken Foundation, Health teacher James DeProfio address students at the surprise school-wide assembly in his honor.

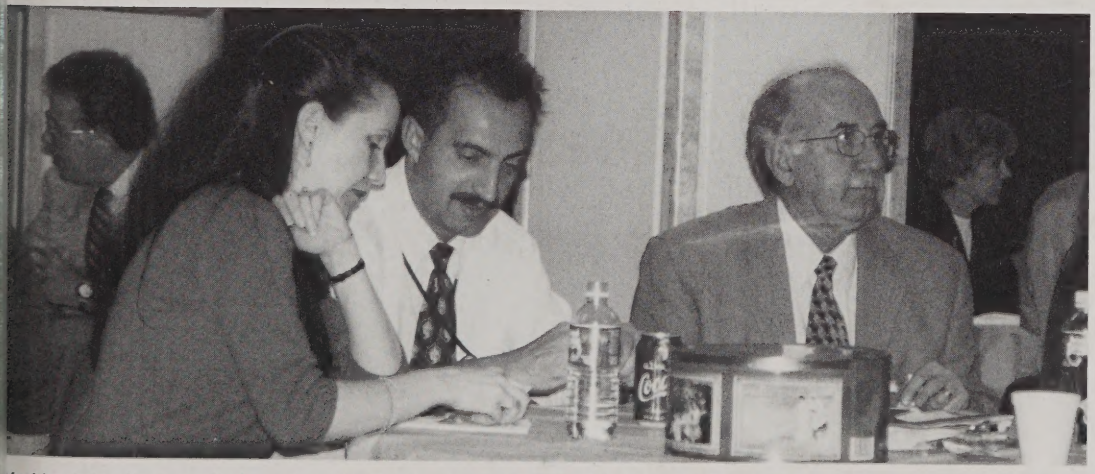
Getting to know students Lindsay Pater, Adam Gustafson, and Steve Gervais take a minute to get acquainted with each other.

Hamming it up, Sue Fineman, Pat DelLano, Mary Desmarais, Martha Iarrapino, Tom Leonard, and Kathy McDonnell share a laugh.

Caugth in mid-sentence, History teacher Roberta Cook enjoys a Coke with a smile.

Security Guard Willie Doby brought his wife along to the Harvest.

"We will use the time spent with teachers as building blocks for the future..."



Working intently on curriculum changes, Foreign Language teacher Michelle Ritchotte discusses plans with Phil Maia. French teacher Ron Boisjoly tends to his own materials.

Teachers have fun out of class too as Fine Arts teachers Pat DelLano and Gail Rhodes enjoy conversation at the Snowball.

TUNNEL VISION

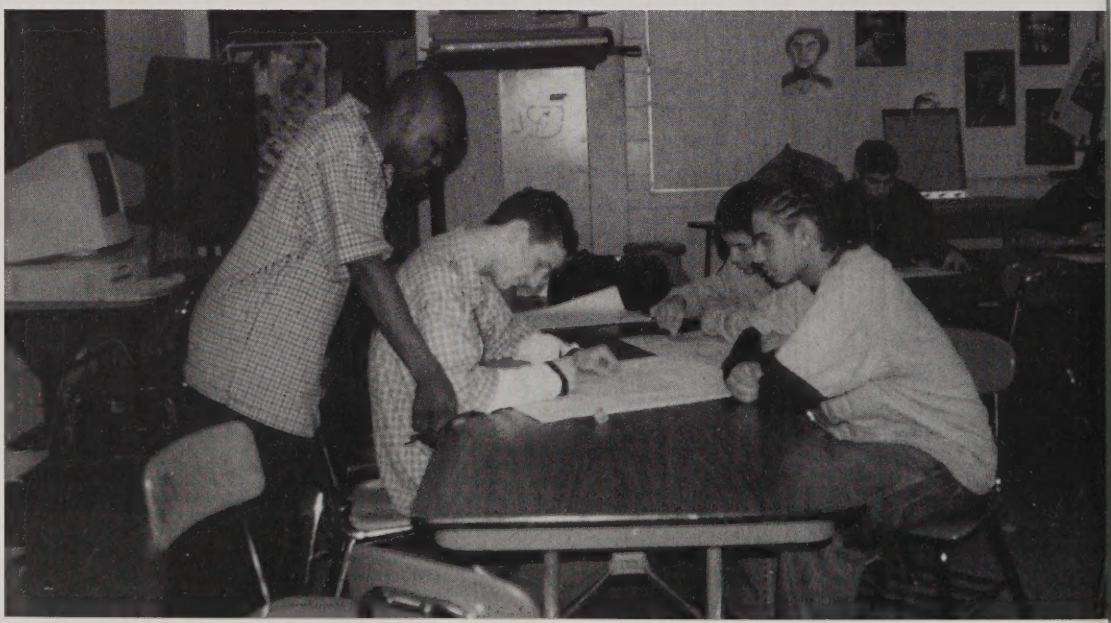
Moving from one building to the other became easier for Chris Bowen and Ryan Hogan. A new tunnel was built in 1998 to make it easier for students to move between classes. Now two tunnels get you from the Old to New Buildings.

DO YOU REMEMBER

Researching is easy as studnets are able to access a computer in the Library housed on the 5th floor of the New Building. In 1996, renovations moved the library from the first floor of the Old Building to its new location.

LEARNING BY OSMOSIS

Leading an upside down study group, Dan Hickey sits while his fellow classmates, Page Sadlier, Mike Nugent, and Chrissy Gower read aloud. Apparently Mike likes his new hard cover hat.



WHERE IS THE ART ROOM

Located deep in the heart of the Old Building Ground Floor, Mo Molai evaluates a classmates work. Art classes were hidden away, but were one of the most popular course selections.

Edited by Heng Sath

Six floors, two elevators, hundreds of stairs, two buildings, dozens of entrances, all leading you to the right place

Just HAD TO BE THERE

Knowing where to go to get from place to place

STAIRWAY TO WHERE

Looking around the school, Wesley Flores finds the only way to get around is climbing stairs. Did you know you must climb 52 stairs to get from the Cafeteria Canal Side to the Sixth Floor? What a workout first thing in the morning for D House students!

1826 SCHOOL STORE

With a wide variety of items available, school store employees Ivy Alvarez & Shamela count the inventory. Items at the store included school supplies, clothing, cards, balloons, and the most popular--candy!

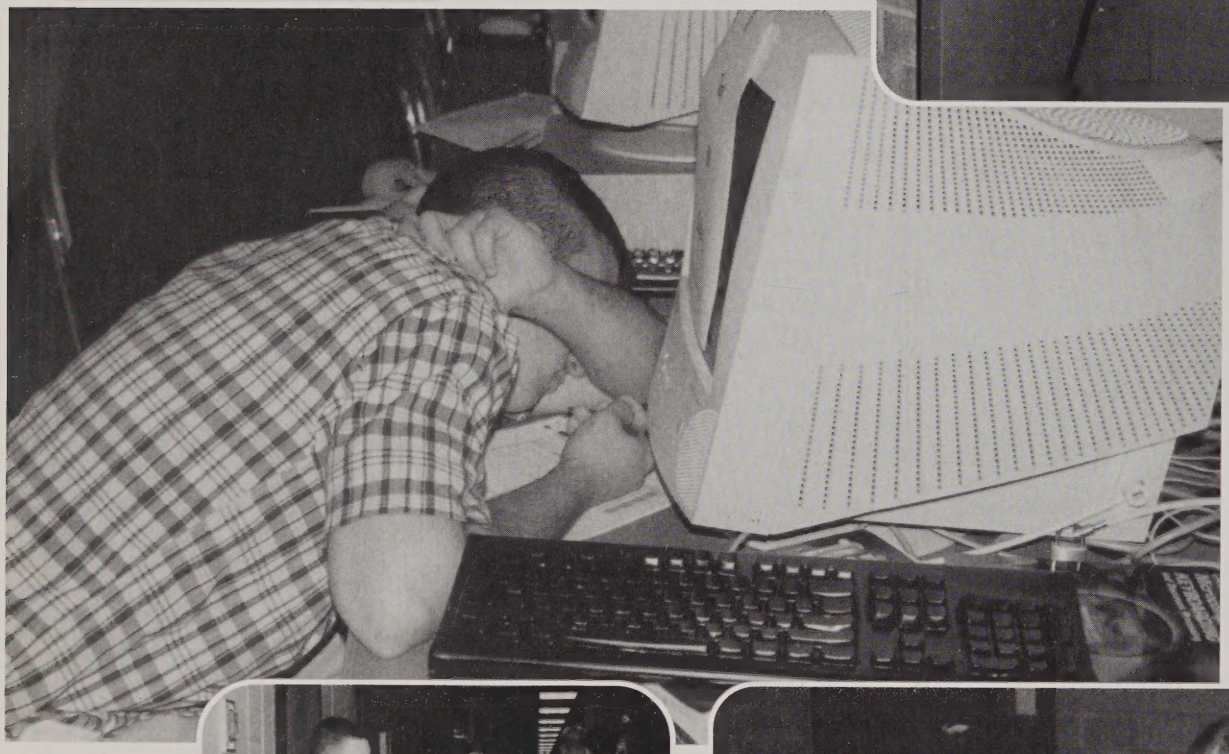
Life

THIS ISN'T A DRESS REHEARSAL!

When you perform...
you are out of yourself
Larger and more potent.
More beautiful,
You are, for minutes, heroic.
This is power.
This is glory on earth.
And it is yours.

Agnes De Mille

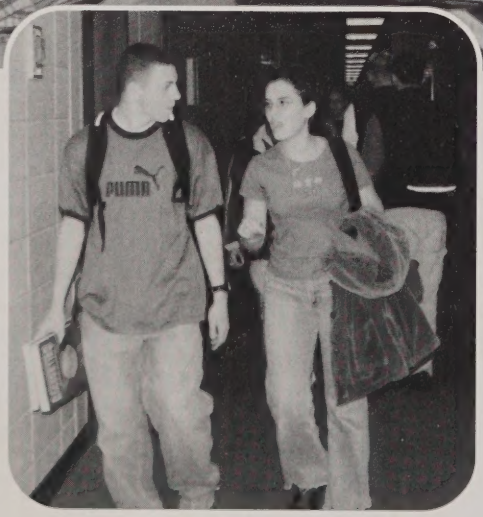
WEARING IT WITH PRIDE
Showing up for class in style, ROTC students donned uniforms every Thursday.

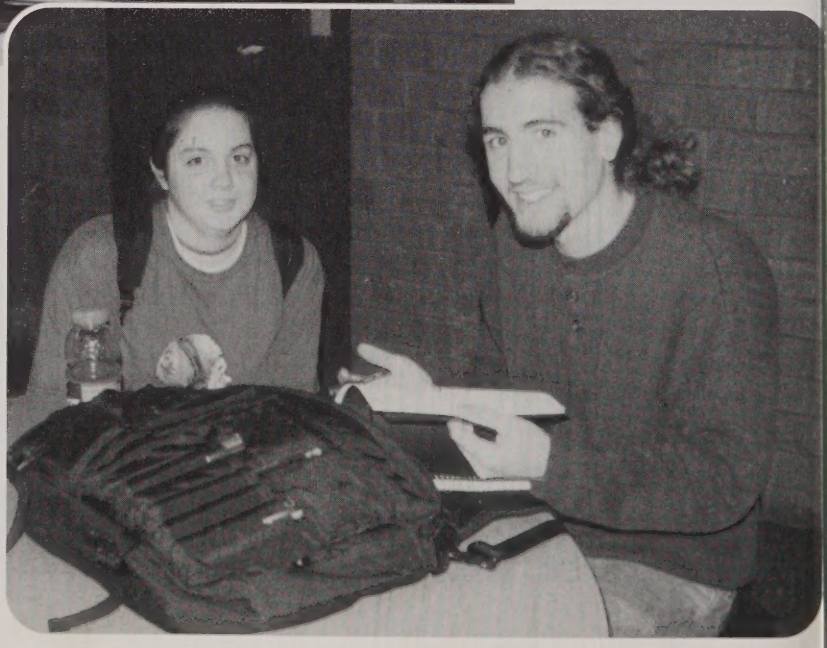


COMPUTED OUT
Tired after a hectic night a busy day, students find eve the most unusual ways to rel during a break in the daily grin

NOTING THE PROBLEM
Meeting with friends to discus homework helps stimulate th brain of a senior.

A LONG WALK
Moving through the building, seniors have a chance to discuss different things. "Do you think the test was hard...are you going to practice after school...can I have a ride to work...what's up for the weekend?"





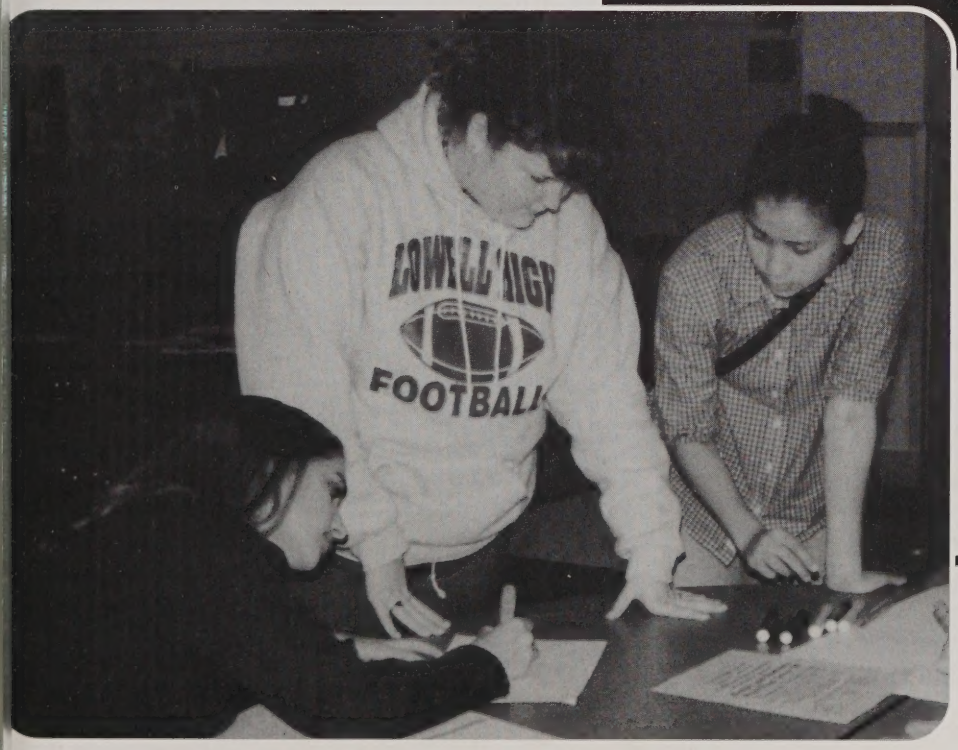
Edited by Savoeun Youk & Sokharn Ran

Time to Fly

6:30	Alarm...theet...theet...theet...No, five more minutes...ahhh...
6:50	Beep...beep...beep...late again, wash face, brush teeth, get dressed...
7:15	My ride is here...no time for breakfast...again
7:30	Third floor garage full...we'll go on 4th floor, late for homeroom again...
7:40	Spanish...teacher talks too much, no comprendo!
8:33	Trig...I know my calculus= U + ME = US...
9:26	Psychology...chapter test, didn't study last night- can't think, too hungry, stomach growling...
10:13	Lunch...time to eat & chat chat chat...
10:40	ROTC...Ooops...no uniform...Big Fat 0
11:35	International Foods...measure ingredients, bake it...ting...times up...ugghh...over-cooked!
12:20	English...MacBeth report due...two weeks ago??
1:13	Yearbook Journalism...time to laugh at funny pictures...
2:05	Finally time to go home, Oh no, not yet...
2:10	International Language Club meeting, track practice...
3:30	Go home, eat, watch tv, shower...
5:00	Time to Work...
10:00	Back at home, do homework, naaaah I can do it in the morning...
11:30	...ZZZZZZZ...

HE GREAT ESCAPE
nowing there holiday spirit, students wanted to get away from e school routine. Dances, sporting events, and club activities e just some things you could do over the four years at LHS.

NO REST FOR THE WEARY
Relaxing and enjoying the company, students spend over six hours a day with friends and teachers.



AFTER SCHOOL FUN
Whether you were involved with Student Council or Science League, activities met often enough for you to attend a meeting or special event.

Only the BEST!

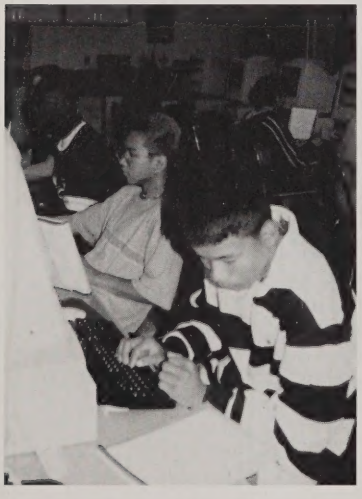
But Were You?

A CERAMIC MASTERPIECE
Getting your hands dirty wasn't a problem for Philip Hernandez as he molded and sculpted this elaborate piece of art. The question remains, "What is it?"

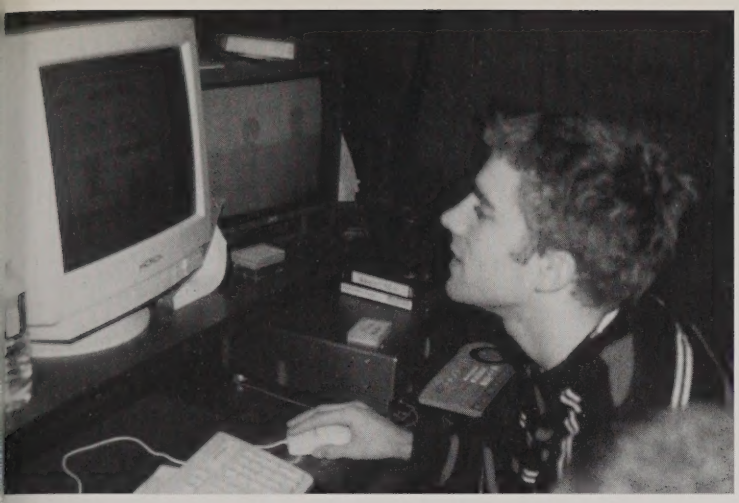
FINSHING TOUCHES
Completing a PageMaker exercise, Tat Chea, Meth Sok, and Marcus Wilson type to get the publication done. Who thought of putting the black covers over the keyboards!



EVACUATION
Students & faculty alike had their share of exiting the building during the second week of January. Students made their way to the Tsongas Arena on three separate occasions.

PHYSICS RULES
Taking notes in Mr. Power's class brought mixed emotions for Ladda Singvilay, Lauren Whitney,Julie Milinazzo and Tania Ormonde.

Edited by Nancy S. Mok



SHOW TIME
Cutting out clips from a TV show created by Rebecca Marr, Adam Marchand edits the work prior to airing the show.

NO PEEKING
Keeping your eyes the monitor is easy for Misty McNatt & Jill McPhillips. Proper skills were enhanced because of those irritating black covers that appeared at the beginning of the year.

SOLVING PROBLEMS
Making a final adjustment, Sokha Man calculates a column in Mr. Weir's Accounting II class.

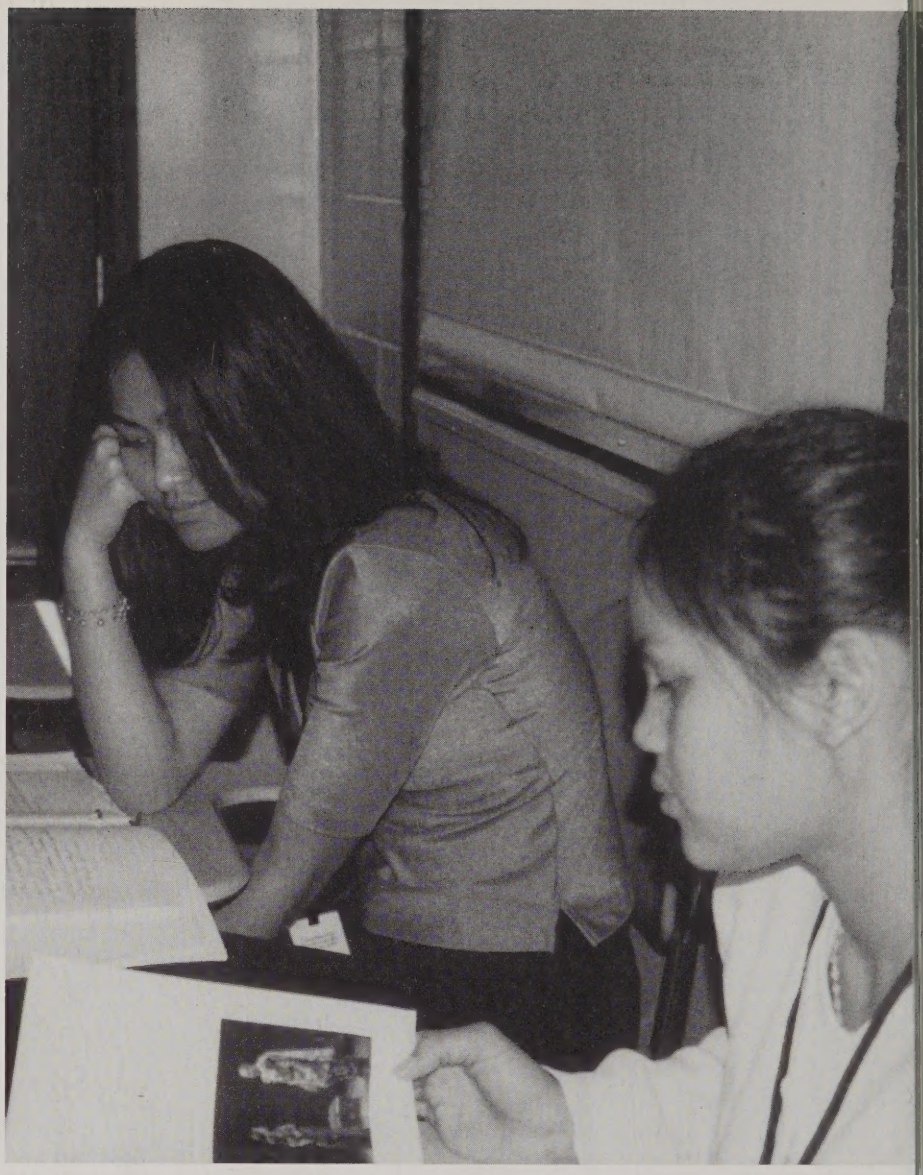
I KNOW THE ANSWER
Raise your hand to give the right answer.

CLEANING UP
Behind the scenes in the restaurant, Melissa Laferriere, Chris Sheldon and Chris Louh take a break from clean up duty

BEING ARTISTIC
With Mrs. Gabriel looking over his shoulder, Mala Phon had his work cut out for him as he applies the shading tips given by his teacher.

Edited by Nancy S. Mok

REVIEWING FAMOUS WORKS
Studying up on MacBeth, Visith Pan and Bunthorn Sok scour the pages for minor details that always seem to pop up on tests.



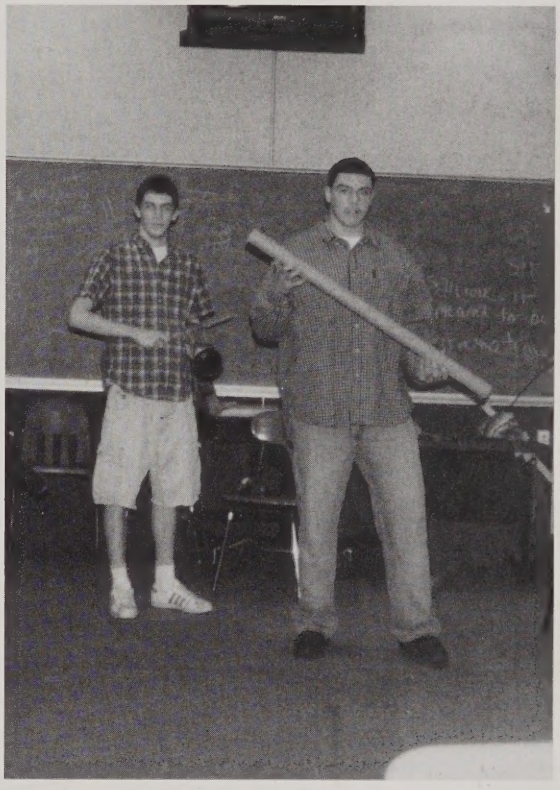
WHAT A LIFE SAVER
Being involved with many activities doesn't stop Samnang Ma from helping her classmates with a Physics project.

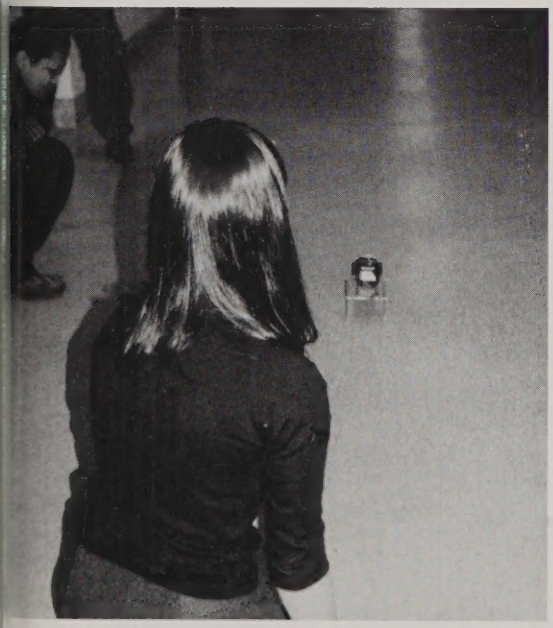
JUST A BEGINNER
Sewing a zipper onto the fabric, Sarah Lamothe is careful not to get her fingers or other material caught under the gyrating needle.

Edited by Nancy S. Mok

PLAY TIME
Senior Kristen Casey tends to a child in the school day care center. As part of the Early Childhood Program, students get a hands-on approach to teaching pre-kindergarten students.

LET THE MUSIC PLAY
Working with other spanish students in the group, Tim Martin and Jorge Osorio use different style instruments to make music for the audience.





KEEP GOING
Watching in suspense, physics student Ghati Dharani waits to see if her car will make it to the second set of tiles down the hallway.

TEAM WORK
Working together, students wrapped elastics, yarn, and string to a mousetrap to jettison the "car" down the speedway.

Colleen Creegan
Television Studio

"True enthusiam is a fine feeling whose flash I admire wherever I see it."
-Charlotte Bronte

Starting in the spring of 1999, students were able to enjoy the privileges of having a television studio within the building. In the studio, students take part in the high-tech world of television production. The studio is equipped with the latest technology, such as video cameras, control master boards, computer programs, and also a studio set where students make the magic happen.

George D. Kouloheras
Library/Media Center

The Library Media Center was renonvated in 1997. Instead of the traditional card catalogs, students now use high tech equipment with extensive search engines. The Library Media Center is helpful for finding the latest, most up-to-date information. Students learn skills like using the Internet and basic fundamentals of typing. With computers, students can access information from sources such as the Electronic Library, SIRS Researcher, and Compton's Encyclopedia.

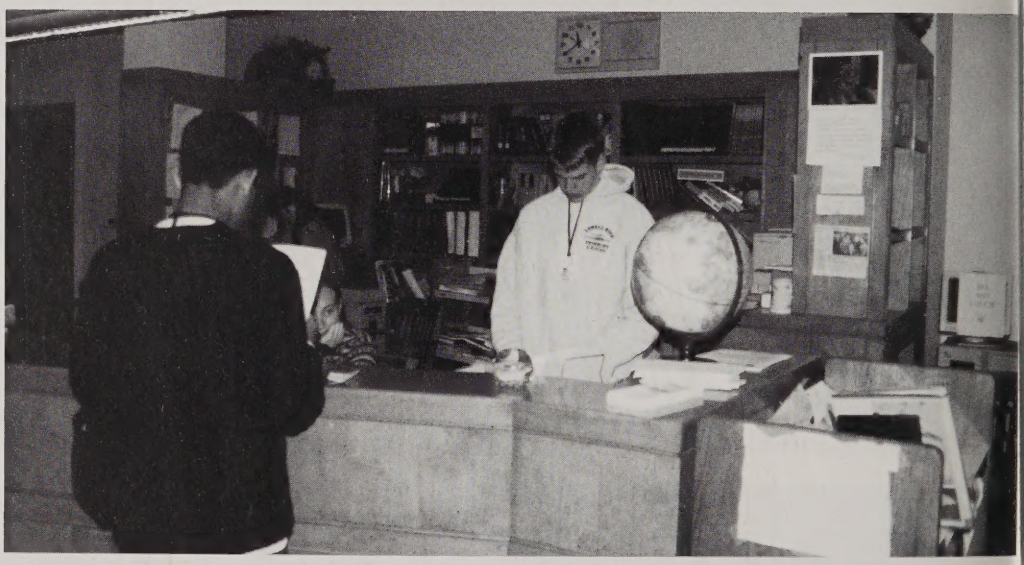
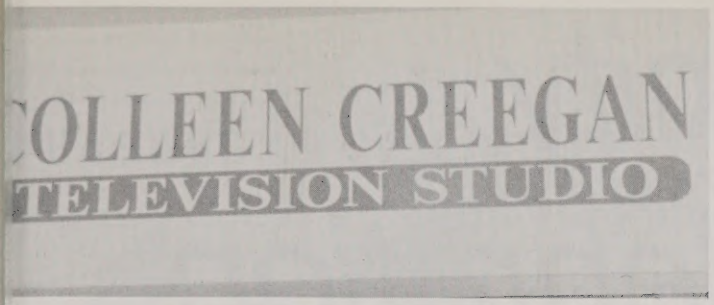
WE ARE ALL GATHERED HERE... to honor Colleen Creegan, her father, Paul Creegan speaks to family and friends in the Library Media Center for the dedication ceremony.



CHECK OUT DESK
Assisting other students, library intern David Rene checks a card catalogue for a student.

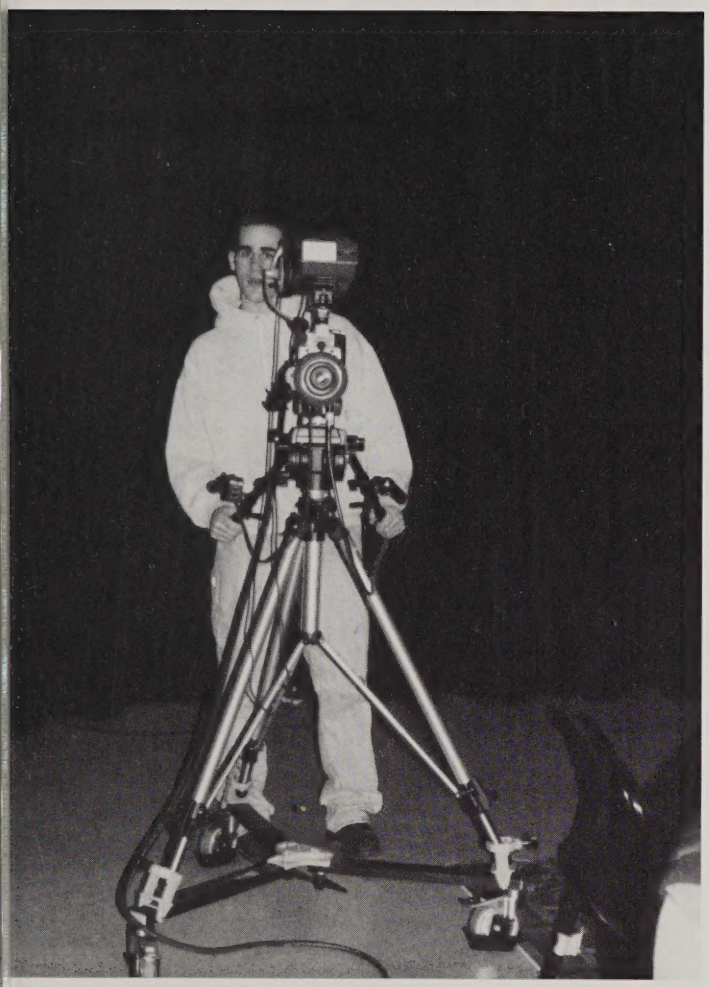
ENTER AT YOUR OWN RISK
Located adjacent to the Library, the Tech Center is manned by students such as Eric Mical. It is a helpful place for students and teachers to get assistance with computer problems. The Tech Center was established in 1999 under the direction of Eileen Kane.

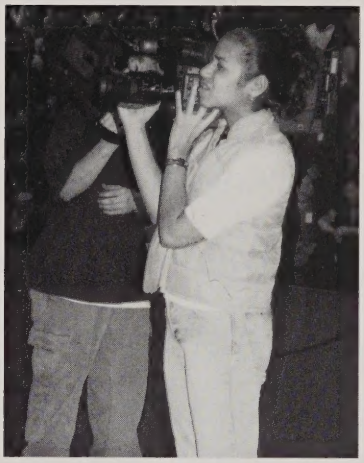
Edited by Taryn Sweeney & Mandee Genereux



THE STUDIO
Located on the sixth floor, students produce the daily announcements in "The Morning Buzz" as well as other for educational television programs.

WHERE'S THE FLASH
Setting up for a camera shot, Dave Brown looks to see what is shining through his lens.





PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT
During important events at the high school, TV Production students are always on call to capture the fun & excitement. Senior Melissa Tirado films the Thanksgivng day pep rally.

A BREATH-TAKING VIEW
Looking down from the sixth floor, students have plenty of room to look up information and take advantage of the new technology in the Library.

LENDING A HELPING HAND
Helping a fellow student find information on a computer, Kevin Dion searches the net and helps to find the answer to her question.

A PLACE FOR FRIENDS TO MEET
Catching up on the latest gossip, Mike Nugent, Chrissy Gower & Jen Sullivan meet and prepare to work on their research papers.

Community Advertisements Celebration

We would like to thank all of our sponsors who helped support 2000 Reasons to Celebrate. We were glad to meet with various business owners in our local area to let them know how often students frequent their business. Due to the financial support of the people and businesses on the following pages, the 2000 Spindle was able to upgrade to a full 16-page color section. The Yearbook Journalism class is proud of the effort they made in order to secure sponsors for this section.

There is much satisfaction in doing things for others. Live by the Golden Rule.
